Dear Jerry,

I am excited about your new business. I never had the opportunity to thank you on behalf of the Professional Culinary Institute for the wonderful job you did on the design of our world class training facility.

From design through construction of our project, the attention of your staff to the detail and quality of work was exceptional. The staff was always available, especially during the construction phase. At the conclusion of the project, the follow-through in correcting the minor issues that always arise was outstanding.

The subcontractors that you employed were extremely fine craftsmen and the result is a world class facility with detailed excellence.

After four years of operation, we have had many visitors to our school from all around the world. It is common to hear them say that this is the finest facility of its kind that they have ever seen.

I would not hesitate to recommend you to anyone wanting a quality result. You are welcome to have anyone who wants to see the quality work your company is capable of, come by and tour the school. I am an extremely pleased customer and wish you the best in your new business.

Sincerely,
